

Slides 01.22: Careers in Nutrition and Culinary Arts, and the Unit 1 Test

Lesson 1.22, one day, 9 slides. The test slides stay up for the last twenty minutes.

Slide 1: Do now

- Name one person you know who works with food for a living.
- What is their job called? Notes: Five quick answers on the board.

Slide 2: Every job you named is on a card

- So are five you have never heard of.
- One of them pays more than a lot of doctors' offices.
- You can start it in this kitchen.

Slide 3: The food career ladder

- Dishwasher, prep cook, line cook: no degree. Start from the bottom, climb by showing up and learning.
- Baker, restaurant manager, caterer: a certificate, an apprenticeship, or a two-year degree.
- School food service director, health inspector, food scientist, registered dietitian: a four-year degree or more.
- Pay ranges on the cards are marked [update]. Image: a ladder drawn with the ten careers on rungs, color coded in three groups. Notes: Ask: which of these did you do a piece of in this unit? All of them.

Slide 4: The card sort

- Pairs. Ten cards. Ten minutes.
- Sort 1: by education needed. Name one job per group.
- Sort 2: mostly food, mostly people, or mostly data?
- Sort 3: by pay, lowest to highest. Circle the surprise.

Slide 5: While you sort, ask

- Which job needs the most school? Which needs none past high school?
- A health inspector and a line cook both care about the danger zone. How is their day different?
- Where does a school food service director fit?

Slide 6: Would I like this?

- Pick two cards.
- The day I would rather have. The education I am willing to do. The pay I would need.
- One sentence: "I would or would not like ___ because ___."

- Keep it in your FACS folder. Unit 2 and Unit 7 use it. Notes: 3 minutes. Not graded for the answer, only for being done.

Slide 7: Unit 1 test

- Twenty items. Twenty minutes. Fifty points.
- Part 1: Safe and Clean. Part 2: Tools, Measuring, Recipes. Part 3: Nutrients, MyPlate, Labels. Part 4: Plan, Shop, Cook.
- Calculators for items 8 and 17 only. Show your work on both.
- If you are not sure, write what you think and why.

Slide 8: Timer

- 20:00 Image: a large timer counting down. Notes: Leave this slide up. Collect at the bell.

Slide 9: On the way out

- Say one word: the career you picked on the self-check.
- Unit 1 is done. Tomorrow: Unit 2, who I am, my goals, my money.
