

Handout 3.16: Caregiver Clock and Community Supports

Name: _____ Date: _____ Partner: _____

Directions: Part 1 is the eight jobs of a parent or caregiver. Part 2 is the 24-hour caregiver clock for a two year old; fill every hour with a job letter and shade the hours the caregiver is working for the child. Part 3 is readiness, at a general level. Part 4 is the community supports match. The exit card is at the bottom. The child and the family are fictional.

My do now guess: a two year old needs an adult paying attention _____ hours a day.

Part 1: The eight jobs of a caregiver

Letter	Job	A toddler example	A babysitter does this?
S	Safety	Gates, outlet covers, never alone near water
F	Food	Three meals and snacks, cut small, no choking foods
H	Health	Doctor visits, shots, medicine, sleep
L	Love	Holding, talking, being there when they cry
T	Teaching	Words, colors, how to share, what “hot” means
M	Limits	A bedtime, a rule about hitting, a “no” that means no
$	Money	Diapers, food, clothes, child care, the doctor
C	Time	All of it

Parenting is unpaid work, and it is the biggest job most adults ever do.

Words in other languages:

English	Turkish	Portuguese	Spanish
caregiver	bakıcı	cuidador	cuidador

safety	güvenlik	segurança	seguridad
food	yemek	comida	comida
health	sağlık	saúde	salud
love	sevgi	amor	amor
limits	sınırlar	limites	límites
money	para	dinheiro	dinero

Part 2: The caregiver clock

A normal weekday for a two year old. Anchors: wakes at 6:30, nap 1:00 to 2:30, bed at 7:30.
Your surprise card (the teacher gives it): _____

For every hour, write what the child is doing, what the caregiver is doing, and the job letter.
Shade every hour the caregiver is doing a job for the child, including “listening while they sleep.”

Hour	The child is	The caregiver is	Job letter	Shaded?
12 a.m.
1 a.m.
2 a.m.
3 a.m.
4 a.m.
5 a.m.
6 a.m.
7 a.m.
8 a.m.
9 a.m.
10 a.m.
11 a.m.
12 p.m.
1 p.m.
2 p.m.
3 p.m.

4 p.m.
5 p.m.
6 p.m.
7 p.m.
8 p.m.
9 p.m.
10 p.m.
11 p.m.

Hours shaded: ____ out of 24. Compared to my guess: _____

Stretch: a second surprise we invented: _____ Hour: ____ Job letter: ____

Stretch: a monthly cost estimate for three jobs (use the figures on the slide): Food $ ____
Diapers $ ____ Child care $ ____ One thing a family with one income might have to give up:

Part 3: Readiness, at a general level

This is not about whether or when anyone should have a child. It is about what a person needs in place to do the eight jobs well.

What a person needs	One reason, from the clock
Age (a body and a brain that are done growing; their own school years finished)
Money (the clock has a cost)
Support (a partner, a parent, a friend, a neighbor; nobody does 24 hours alone for long)
Patience (the 2 a.m. fever and the spilled cup are the job, not the exception)

Which of the four does the clock show most clearly? _____

Part 4: Community supports

Support	What it does	An hour on my clock where it would help
The pediatrician	Checkups, shots, medicine, the “is this normal” phone

	call
The school (and later, pre-K)	Teaching, meals, the nurse, the counselor
The public library	Free books, story time, a warm place, computers
WIC	Food help for pregnant people, babies, and children under 5 in families that qualify
211	One phone number for finding any local help: food, housing, child care, utilities. Available in many languages.
The family liaison at school	Knows every local resource; helps with forms
The after-hours nurse line	A nurse on the phone at 2 a.m.

Local numbers from the slide:

211: _____ One other: _____

Exit card: 3-2-1

3 of the eight jobs: _____

2 community supports and what each does: _____

1 sentence: The caregiver clock surprised me because

Teacher key

- Part 1, “a babysitter does this”: S yes, F yes (snacks and a meal the parent left), H no (a babysitter does not make health decisions; they call the parent), L yes, T sometimes, M yes (the bedtime the parent set), $ no, C yes (for a few hours).
- Part 2, a “got it” clock: every hour has a letter; midnight to 6 a.m. is shaded with L or S (“listening,” “checking”); the surprise (a fever at 2 a.m., a spilled cup at dinner, a scraped knee at the park) is handled with H, F, or S, not skipped; the count is 18 to 24. A common clock: 6:30 wake L/S, 7 breakfast F, 8 to 12 play and errands T/S, 12 lunch F, 1 to 2:30 nap (shaded, caregiver does dishes and listens), 3 to 5 park or play S/T, 5:30 dinner F, 6:30 bath S, 7:30 bed L/M, 8 p.m. to midnight listening.
- Stretch costs, placeholders to confirm locally: diapers about $70 a month; toddler food about $150 to $250 a month; child care from $800 to over $2,000 a month depending on the county.
- Part 3, strong reasons: age (the clock has no gaps; a person still in school could not fill it); money (child care alone can cost more than rent); support (the 2 a.m. fever after a full day; somebody has to cover the next morning); patience (the surprise card is every day).
- Part 4 matches: pediatrician to the 2 a.m. fever or a checkup hour; the school to a daytime teaching hour; the library to a morning or afternoon play hour; WIC to a meal hour; 211 to any hour a family needs help finding something; the nurse line to 2 a.m.