

Lesson Template (use for every lesson, all year)

File name: Lesson NN.MM - [Title].md inside the unit folder. One file per lesson even when the lesson runs more than one day. Every block below appears in every lesson, in this order. Write in plain English, short sentences. Student-facing text at a middle school reading level. No em dashes, en dashes, or double hyphens. Placeholders for Sal in [brackets].

The order matches the Queens College Lesson Framework Sal already writes in (planning, instruction, assessment), so the site version and a version he hands in look the same. If the IDEAL Framework arrives, the blocks get relabeled, not rewritten.

Pre-assessment

[How you find out what they already know: a do now question, a hand vote, the previous exit cards, the unit pre-test. One or two sentences.]

Do now and hook (Time: N min)

[On the board when students walk in. One to two minutes of writing, then a short debrief that leads into the hook. The hook can be the same activity.]

1. [Strategy: direct instruction / guided discussion / demo]			N min
2. Learning activity: [name]			N min
3. [Practice / lab / game]			N min
